Early Developed Power to Command

The following list of great generals whose superior capacity was exhibited in early manhood, was compiled by the late Brevet Major-General Emory Upton:

Philip of Macedon ascended the throne at twenty-two and was the conqueror of Greece at forty-five and died at forty-seven.

Julius Cæsar commanded a fleet before Mitylene and distinguished himself before the age of twenty-two; completed his first war in Spain, and was made consul before the age of forty; conquered Gaul, twice crossed the Rhine, and twice invaded Britain before the age of forty-five; won the battle of Pharsalia, and obtained supreme power at fifty-two. He died at fifty-six, the victor of 500 battles and the conqueror of 1,000 cities.

Hannibal was made commander-in-chief of the Carthaginian army, in Spain, at twenty-six, and had won all his great battles in Italy, concluding with Cannæ, at thirty-one.

Scipio Africanus, the younger, had conquered the other Carthaginian armies and completed the destruction of Carthage at thirty-six.

Charlemange was crowned king at twenty-six, was master of France and the larger part of Germany at twenty-nine, placed on his head the iron crown of Italy at thirty-two, and conquered Spain at thirty-six.

Gonsalvo de Cordova, the great captain, had gained a great reputation and was made commander-in-chief of the army of Italy at forty-one.

Henry IV. of France was at the head of the Hugnenot army at sixteen, became king of Navarre at nineteen, overthrew his enemies and became king of France before the age of forty.

Montecuculi, at the age of thirty-one, with 2,000 horse, attacked 10,000 Swedes and captured all their baggage and artillery; gained the victory of Triebel at thirty-two; defeated the Swedes and saved Denmark at forty-nine; and at fifty-three defeated the Turks in the battle of St. Gothard.

Saxe was a marechal de-camp at twenty-four, marshal of France at forty-four, and at forty-nine gained the famous victory at Fontenoy.

Vauban, the great engineer, had conducted several sieges at twenty-five, was marechal de-camp at forty-three, and commissaire-general of fortifications of France at forty-five.

Turenne, passing through the grades of captain, colonel, major-general and lieutenant-general, became a marshal of France at thirty-two, and won all his distinction before forty.

The great Conde defeated the Spaniards at Rocrio at twenty-two, and won all his military fame before the age of twenty-five.

Prince Eugene of Savoy was colonel at twenty-one, lieutenant-field-marshal at twenty-four, and shortly after general-field-marshal. He gained the battle at Zenta at thirty-four, and co-operated with Marlborough at Blenheim at forty-one.

Peter the Great, of Russia, was proclaimed Czar at ten years of age, organized a large army at twenty, won the victory of Embach at thirty, founded St. Petersburg at thirty-one, and died at the age of fifty-five.

Charles XII. completed his first campaign against Denmark at eighteen, overthrew 80,000 Russians at Narva before nineteen, conquered Poland and Saxony at twenty-four, and died at thirty-six.

Frederic the Great ascended the throne at twenty-eight, terminated the first Silesian war at thiry and the second at thirty-three. Ten years later, with a population of but 5,000,000, he triumphed over a league of more than 100,000,000 of people.

Cortez effected the conquest of Mexico and completed his military career before the age of thirty-six.

Pizarro completed the conquest of Peru at thirty-five, and died at forty.

Wolfe was conqueror of Quebec at thirty two.

Napoleon was a major at twenty-four, general of brigade at twenty-five, and commander-in-chief of the army of Italy at twenty-six; achieved all his victories and was finally overthrown before the age of forty-four.

"There's my hand!" he exclaimed in a moment of courage and candor, "and my heart is in it." She glanced at the empty palm extended toward her and wickedly replied. "Just as I supposed; you have no heart."

W. C. T. U.

Its meetings occur on Tuesdays at 7½ p. m., and on Thursdays at 3 p. m., at headquarters in Central Block, the former being a Gospel temperance meeting, and the latter one mainly for business. There is also a monthly sociable at the tabernacle, on the third Thursday evening of the month. All are welcome to any of these meetings. M. M. SARGENT, Sec.

Cider and Bolted Meal.

Those wishing cider in any quantity for making superior vinegar, or for any other purpose, should call at William Bills' steam establishment on South Broadway, four doors north of the Illinois Midland depot. Mr. Bills uses the self-adjustable cider press with the Grider hydraulic jack power. Only the best cider apples 80 bushels per day—are used. Mr. Bills makes a specialty of his bolted meal, and also keeps in stock a full supply of feed of every description. Call at Bills' place for sweet cider, bolted meal and feed. His prices are as low as the lowest. sep15-d1w

Wild Flowers in Gardens.

There are many real lovers of flowers who have the first requisite for a garden—the land—who let the surroundings of the house fall into neglect, merely because they cannot afford to buy plants with which to ornament them. It is possible in most parts of the country to make beautiful gardens without the outlay of a dollar for plants. Could the persons referred to visit European gardens or even see European catalogues they would find that the common plants around them are elsewhere highly valued. Aside from the trees, there are many shrubs that may find a place in the garden and a host of herbaceous plants from which a proper selection will keep the garden gay the whole growing season.

Take our common lillies for example. Aside from the far West, there are three common in the States east of the Mississippi; two of them are low, not over three feet high, and common in meadows, while the taller, "Superb Lilly," in rich, swampy places, is six or eight feet high and bears a pyramid of ten to thirty or more flowers. If one should make a collection of these native lillies he would be surprised at the great variety they present among themselves, not only in the size and number of the flowers, but especially in their coloring. One could make a collection of these native lillies and by careful selection find a great variety among them. So with many other native plants, which will amply repay the care that may be given them, and one can easily stock a garden from the woods and fields.—American Agriculturist.

Frankly Acknowledged.

At a recent trial in the Lenawee County court-room a young Adrian lawyer was defending a client charged with larceny. A female relative was on the stand, and, on direct examination, had sworn to a statement directly opposite to one she had made to the young lawyer in his office. The youth started in on the cross-examination with great vigor, and an extended forefinger. The following was about the way the matter eventuated:

Lawyer—"I understand you to swear so-and-so on your direct examination."

Witness—"Yes, sir."

L.—"Did you not say to me so-and-so in my office?"

W.—"Yes, sir."

W.—"Yes, sir."

L.—"Well, then you must lie in one or the other statements?"

W.—"Yes, sir."

L.—"And which is the truth?"

W.—"What I have just sworn to."

L.—"It is, eh? Now, will you tell me why you lied to me?"

W.—"Oh, you looked like a fellow I could 'stuff.'"

We leave it to some of the writers of harrowing fiction to describe the feelings of the young limb of the law. We are not equal to that sort of thing.—Adrian Expositor.

IT ALL came about in this wise: The man with the red nose had been giving his experience at the prayer meeting. He said he was the vilest of sinners, and altogether unworthy of saving grace. He was followed by a modest little gentle man, who remarked that he could corroborate all the dear brother had said. Indeed, he would go further, and say that the brother was the meanest and most rascally old curmudgeon in town. Then the first speaker jumped for the modest little gentleman, clearing three settees in transit; two young fellows in the corner started for the settee-jumper at the same instant; Deacon Jones flung the pulpit Bible at the head of the foremost young fellow; Sister Brown pulled at Deacon Jones's coat tails; the lights went out, somebody hollered "fire," the whole department came galloping up to the meeting-house, three streams were on before you could say "Jack Robinson," and everybody was drenched to the skin. You wouldn't think so much bother would be raised just because one brother wished to help another to give a good experience—now, would you.—Boston Transcript.

Dog or Snuff.

A Chicago woman traveling in the South made a good deal of fun of some of the Southern women who dip snuff, but when a party of them on a car saw the Chicago girl kiss a poodle dog on the nose, and they all turned pale and put their heads out of the windows for fresh air, the Northern girl began to reflect that perhaps snuff was nearly as clean as the average dog's nose. Any way, either a Northern, or Southern man, if he wanted to kiss a woman, would take the snuff twice before he would take second-hand dog once.—Peck's Sun.

SPEER'S

PORT GRAPE WINE!

Used in the principal Churches for Communion purposes.

EXCELLENT FOR LADIES AND WEAKLY PERSONS AND THE AGED

SPEER'S PORT GRAPE WINE,

FOUR YEARS OLD.

THIS CELEBRATED NATIVE WINE is made from the juice of the Oporto Grape raised in this country. Its invaluable

Tonic and Strengthening Properties

are unsurpassed by any other Native Wine. Being the pure juice of the Grape, produced under Mr. Speer's own personal supervision, its purity and genuineness are guaranteed. The youngest child may partake of its generous qualities, and the weakest invalid use it to advantage. It is particularly beneficial to the aged and debilitated, and suited to the various ailments that affect the weaker sex. It is in every respect A WINE TO BE RELIED ON.

SPEER'S

P. J. SHERRY.

The P. J. SHERRY is a wine of Superior Character, and partakes of the rich qualities of the grape from which it is made. For Purity, Richness, Flavor and Medicinal Properties, it will be found unexcelled.

SPEER'S

P. J. BRANDY

IT IS A PURE distillation from the grape, and contains valuable medicinal properties.

It has a delicate flavor, similar to that of the grapes, from which it is distilled, and is in great favor among first-class families.

See that the signature of ALFRED SPEER, Passaic, N. J., is over the cork of each bottle.

THE Chicago Tribune headed its telegraphic news from Saratoga in yesterday's issue: "Cornell will to-day give Conkling the finishing stroke."

REPORTS from North Carolina are very encouraging as to the Republican prospects in that state. The campaign is said to be the liveliest and most vigorous ever conducted there, and the Republicans and Liberals, working in zealous harmony against the common enemy. Bourbonism, fully expect to carry the state by 30,000 majority.

HON. JOHN SHERMAN said in a speech at Elyria, Ohio, last week, that he was surprised that Pendleton held the Republicans responsible for Dorsey's trial, when it was a Democratic congress three years ago that passed an appropriation of $2,000,000 asked for by Brady, and of which sum Brady, Dorsey & Co are now being tried for appropriating to their own use.

MAYOR JACOBS, of Logansport, Ind., created a sensation, a few nighs ago, by declaring himself not only in favor of submission, but of prohibition, as well. Mayor Jacobs is a Democrat, and as such has been three times elected to the chief position in the city. He grounds his position on the statement that, as mayor and police judge, he has been convinced that three fourths of the crime was committed through the effects of intoxicating liquors. Mayor Jacobs' standing as a Democrat is ruined forever.

Speaking Appointments.

Ex-Governor and ex-Senator Richard J. Oglesby will speak in this State next week as follows.

Bushnell—Tuesday, Sept. 26.
Monmouth—Wednesday, Sept 27.
Aledo—Thursday. Sept. 28
Macomb—Friday, Sept 29.
Hamilton - Saturday. Sept. 30.

General Green B. Raum, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, will speak at Rock Island—Saturday, Sept. 23.

Pontiac—Saturday. Sept. 30.

THE most pleasant, good natured, jovial sort of man on the Republican ticket is unquestionably Hon. Jason Rogers. He has a pleasant word for every one and it is said truthfully of him that he is always so, candidate or no candidate. The people of Logan county never were more pleased with any man than Mr. Rogers, and the way in which his majority will loom up in this district will be a caution. Mr. Rogers has made an able legislator, having at all times the interest of his constituency in view. Mr. Rogers takes no under hand means to secure an election, and in speaking of his opponent does it always as a gentleman. Vituperation and abuse are not his forte and every one who meets him knows by his honest grasp of the hand that Jason is one of God's noblemen.—Logan Co. Tribune.

The above endorsement of the next state senator from this district but echoes the esteem in which Mr. Rogers is held by voters without number in all political parties in Macon and Logan counties. He is an honest representative of the people and always a true blue Republican.

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS has a memory for faces equal to that of Henry Clay. The Atlanta Constitution says Mr. D. P. Ellis met him in the street Wednesday and spoke to him, adding, "You don't remember me, I suppose." "Yes," answered Mr. Stephens, "I knew you in Columbus, and forty-two years ago we took dinner together with a party at Colonel Jack Howard's."

THE agricultural products of Kansas this year are estimated to be worth at present prices $138,385,315, and the other products of the farm, garden, and pasture, including live stock, will bring the total up to $176,000,000, or an average of $176 for every man, woman and child in the State.

DURBIN WARD, a lurid Bourbon orator of Ohio, made a speech the other day in which he observed that "Republican tyranny totters to its fall." That was before he heard from Maine. "Close up the ranks of Democracy," continued Mr. Ward; "assail the spoilsmen and drive them from the Capitol. And when victory perches on the standard of the people, and no longer hovers over the ensign of corruption and fraud, we will enter the Capitol in peaceful triumph. Then we will inaugurate 'civil-service reform.' If any voice of mine has power, we will 'reform' into private life the whole army of Republican office-holders." That is exactly the Democratic idea of civil-service reform—to dismiss a hundred thousand experienced and faithful servants and fill their places with inexperienced Democrats. Mr. Ward is very frank.—Inter-Ocean.

COMMETING on Thurlow Weed's serious illness, old Peter Cooper says: "He is only 84, and ought not to die so easily." Mr. Cooper has long passed his 90th birthday, and wonders why any man half a dozen years his junior should be sick. Bishop Potter, at 80, attends to his large diocese, so far without assistance, and is in better health than he was thirty years ago. Ex-Governor E. D. Morgan, at 70, is robust, and William E. Dodge, his senior by half a dozen years, seems to have not passed 60, as he moves rapidly and alertly down the street. Mr. Tilden is broken down. Ambition has worn him out early, for he has not yet reached 70. August Belmont has passed three-score-and-ten, and has a good prospect of ten years more of life. Russell Sage is 70 years old, but W. H. Vanderbilt is ten years younger, and Jay Gould is only 49.

HAVING failed to capture the mass-meeting of the Turner societies in Chicago last Sunday, the Democratic politicians have now undertaken to manipulate the Liquor Dealers' Convention at Rock Island, and with fair prospects of success. They have already progressed in that direction so far as to secure the passage of a resolution expressive of satisfaction at the anti prohibition declaration of the Democratic State Convention, and to send a telegram to Mayor Harrison congratulating him upon his safe return. Under the artful shuffling of Messrs. Mackin and Rubens the Rock Island pack is pretty certain to be put up so as to give the trick to the Democracy, but when it comes to playing the game out it will be found that the people of the whole State hold the best hand. Chicago Journal.

THE people of Newport, R. I., were somewhat astonished the other day to see President Arthur drive into town, seated in an open express wagon, in company with his private secretary, Mr. Phillips, and Captain Green, of the United States steamer Dispatch. In this modest style President Arthur had ridden across country some eight or ten miles. The horse jogged slowly along through the main thoroughfare, and many persons recognized the President and saluted him. He drove to the telegraph office, where he dictated several dispatches, and thence to one of the leading stores of the city, where he remained till the leaving of the train for New York, escaping any reception or demonstration.

THERE must now be more than 500 descendants of Benjamin Franklin in the United States, some of them poor and obscure as his wife's family, others in the navy and science; one of them is said to be the wife of Attorney General Brewster, another is a school teacher at Port Chester, N. J. All the legitimate descendants come through Susan Beach. Secretary Folger is of the family of Franklin's mother, from whom his mental strength is said to have come. The palace of James Franklin, governor of New Jersey, natural son of the philosoper, is standing, and is a summer hotel. Numerous descendants of Susan Beach live at Bristol, Penn., where some of them are married to the descendants of Anthony Benezet, the founder of the first anti-slavery society in the world.

THE Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph Company, which is controlled by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, have laid a cable across the Narrows from Fort Hamilton to Fort Wadsworth in New York harbor. It will be 6,500 feet long, and is the longest cable in this country. The line will be completed by November 1, and communication will then be opened with St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, and all intermediate points, including Pittsburgh, Pa., and Richmond, Va.

THE estates of intestates dying without known next of kin bring large sums annually to the British Treasury in behalf of the Crown. These windfalls have averaged over £100,000 since 1876. The large sum of £143,271 11s. 2d., arising from fractions of a penny on account of the dividends on the national debt, has recently been transferred from the Bank of England into the Treasury. It has never been customary to pay fractions of a penny on Government stocks.

WE believe in temperance, and we belong to a party that believes in temperance. We hurl back with scorn the charge that the Democratic party is a "whisky party." Indianapolis Sentinel.

Well, perhaps the Democratic party is not "a whisky party," but if every Democrat in the country should swear off, distillery stock would experience a wonderful fall in value.—Globe-Democrat.

GEN. ROBERT TOOMBS, of Georgia, according to an Atlanta letter, has greatly changed recently in his physical condition. His eyesight has nearly failed him, and his once full face has grown thin and wrinkled. It is predicted that his long and brilliant career, with all its successes and failures, will soon come to an end.

The Rights of Others.

If parents would teach their children to respect each other's rights, under all circumstances, society would be burdened with few of those men whom we now meet daily, and who deliberately prey upon the folly or weakness of others. There are some children that seem to have no sense of "mine or thine," but borrow at pleasure what they want, appropriate to their own use what belongs to other members of the family, make sharp bargains, cut off the corners in a trade, and consider themselves only "smart" and praiseworthy when they have over reached or outwitted their fellows.

Unfortunately, in many such instances, the parent rejoices rather than mourns that "that child seems to have a faculty of taking care of himself."

Let us sketch what seems to us an ideal condition in a family as to the principle of "mine and thine."

Each member of the family has his own personal belongings, and these are sacred to him alone. No other member meddles therewith. His treasures are not appropriated or even inspected by anyone but himself. If he have a room by himself, that room is safe from intrusion; no locks or keys are needed to guard him nor his from impertinent and officious meddling.

Nevertheless the parents' oversight never fails; and they revise all arguments and agreements made between their children, so that the older may not take advantage of the younger, or the sharp of the dull, so that each one shall have an "even chance" with the rest. The laws of equity govern parental decisions and secure to each child justice. With such training at home, there is little danger that these young people will develop into over-reaching, avaricious men and women.

Nary Drop of Rain.

The ignorance displayed on nautical matters by some of the western members of congress, recalls an anecdote told at the expense of Governor Reynolds, of Illinois, when, for the first time in his life, he visited the seaboard as a representative to congress from the then back settlements: "On reaching Baltimore the governor rose early in the morning and paid a visit to the shipping at the docks when the tide was full, and again at noon, when it was at ebb; and, not satisfied with the sudden change that had taken place, again in the evening, when the tide was in. Heretofore he had resolved to keep everything to himself, and go in pursuit of knowledge under difficulties on his own hook; but now his astonishment broke over its bounds. As he returned to the hotel, the old Ranger remarked that this was the curiousest country he had ever seed in his life—two freshets in one day and nary drop of rain!"

Oysters by the Mile.

The joy caused in gastronomic and epicurean circles by Mr. Olsen's paper on "The North Sea Fisheries" and the great oyster discoveries there will be shared by the whole oyster eating world. Two hundred miles of oyster beds, thirty to seventy miles wide, that is to say, 10,000 square miles of oysters within easy distance of the British coast, is a discovery to which all those of Stanley and Livingstone sink into insignificance. One curious feature about it is that the oysters lie at a depth of twenty-one fathoms, thus disposing summarily of the prevalent idea that oysters can only be raised successfully in shallow water. The man who invents a new dish, according to some, the man who plants a tree, according to the Mohammedans, deserves well of mankind; but what is the reward of a man who discovers 10,000 square miles of oysters? And yet all this is tinged with the melancholy doubt whether oysters will be cheaper in consequence. London Pall Mall Gazette.

Educating Idlers.

That American parents are educating their children to be idlers is the complaint of the Boston Herald. "Not long ago," it says, "it was shown that the drift of representative schools in Boston and Quincy was in the direction of occupations which are beyond the rank of the common laborer beyond the limits of common industries. None of the boys, none of the girls, are expected to really work for a living. They were to do what was nice and genteel but not to soil their hands—nor to wear overalls or scrub floors—not, in short, to do anything that did not belong to a superior race. Until the one thing above everything else in our education is recognized to be the training of the character—until honest dealing with a child's intellectual and moral life is made fundamental in our education until we can rest content with the fitting of children for the place in life for which God evidently intended them—we shall not have taken the criminal element out of our educational system."

Magnificent National Gratitude.

Pension statistics ought to gratify the patriotic American citizen, for a country that can pay out $530,000,000 to wounded or invalid veterans or the widowed wives and orphan children of the dead, is surely something to be proud of. It is almost a score of years since the last battle, and yet our pension list is still growing as if the war was a thing of yesterday, 16,867 having been added during the past year. Where is there another nation in the world that has done as much for its soldiers?

New York's Debt.

The city debt of New York has been decreased during the last fiscal year in the round sum of $1,800,000. The net debt of the present time is $97,500,000; the real estate valuation is over $1,000,000,000, and the tax rate will be $2.25 on the $100. The Herald says the city has had a better and purer government since "Boss" Kelly and his gang were driven from power, and that the tax payers are just beginning to experience the benefits of the change.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

FOLGER THE MAN.

Result of the New York Republican Convention.

Telegrams from Other Points

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 20.—The Republican state committee, by a vote of 18 to 14, selected ex-Senator Madden as temporary chairman of the convention. The Cornell men voted for Senator Pitts. The Cornell-Wadsworth people announce that they will fight on the question of temporary organization, and in that case the strength of the Folger men will be developed.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 20.—The Republican state convention was called to order by B. Platt Carpenter, and the roll of delegates called.

When the roll call was concluded, George H. Sharpe said the state committee had decided to recommend as temporary chairman E. L. Madden, and he placed him in nomination.

Senator Warner Miller said he did not think it to be the province of the state committee to dictate who shall be temporary chairman. He would not speak of the influence that had brought about that suggestion, but he would nominate Edmund L. Pitts and asked for the ayes and nays.

Mr. Sharpe repelled the suggestion that the nomination of Madden had been impelled by any other reasons than those in the interest of harmony and good feeling. He seconded the motion that the ayes and nays be called. The motion was adopted.

The vote resulted: Madden 251; Pitts 213. Mr. Madden was conducted to the chair, and made a brief address.

The usual committees were appointed, and Mr. Hepburn read a communication from the anti monopoly which was not well received. Many persons left the hall during the reading, and the confusion is very great.

A recess was then taken until 4 p. m.

At 4:25 the convention was called to order. A communication from the Brooklyn Young Men's Republican club was presented by Delegate Tate, of that city, for the consideration of the convention. A delegate said the paper came from 2,500 Republicans who held no office and were not for sale.

The chairman: The chair would say that no Republican is ever in market. [Applause.]

The committees were ready to report, and the convention was kept waiting until 4:35, when the committee on contested seats presented its report in favor of the admission of the contestants from King's county.

Albert Daggett, leader of the Cornell men from Brooklyn, moved to disagree with the report, and said that there was not a shadow of reason for the contest. If such things are to be done in Kings county it will be impossible to find a decent person to go to a primary or to the polls. Daggett demanded that the delegation be given its rights, and said that the contest was preposterous and absurd. If right was not done he promised that while Kings county Republicans would support the ticket, whatever it might be, yet in the district in question Republicans would refuse to vote, and would let the rag-tags and bobtails run the machine.

Lawson, of the committee, said Daggett's speech was presented to the committee and thoroughly denied and contradicted. Gentlemen, I have had in my long experience in New York much to do with frauds at the primaries. [Cheering and laughter that interrupted the speech and cries of "Question".] Lawson continued: I made a little slip of the tongue in leaving out the word investigating frauds, but I leave the matter to the convention.

The report of the committee was finally agreed to—yeas, 218; nays, 246.

In the case of Seneca county, Lawson said the committee recommended that contestants be admitted.

A member of the committee on credentials favored the sitting delegates, and said he desired to make a minority report in their favor. A desultory discussion followed.

The question was called and the chairman said it was as to the adoption of the report of the committee.

Delegates insisted that a motion to substitute the minority report had been made.

The chairman said the motion was made too late.

Great confusion ensued, and amid cheers and hisses the chair said the rules which controlled the convention did not provide for the presence of policemen to put down disorder, but they were such as all gentlemen would obey. He then announced that the yeas and nays had been called on the question of the adoption of the report of the committee. The vote resulted: Yeas, 217; nays, 277.

The chairman then, amid applause, declared the report of the committee rejected.

The temporary chairman was then continued as permanent chairman.

The convention rejected a motion for another recess, and proceeded to vote for a candidate for Governor. The first ballot resulted as follows:

Judge Folger,	223
Alonzo B. Cornell,	180
James Wadsworth,	9
John H. Starin,	19
John C. Robinson,	6
Necessary to a choice,	219

The result was received without any demonstration, and the convention at once settled down for another ballot.

The second ballot was taken amid breathless silence. While the vote was being counted there were many changes of votes. Broome county delegates changed from Robinson to Folger, and Saratoga county announced a change of eight votes from Starin to Cornell. Montgomery county then withdrew Starin and changed its vote to Cornell. Lewis county changed four votes from Wadsworth to Cornell. There was much confusion and excitement at this point. Fifty men were on their feet at the same time, and announcing changes. The chairman found it impossible to maintain order, and refused to recognize delegates until quiet was restored. Disorder reigned for some minutes. It looked as if the convention was making a stampede toward Cornell, and the excitement was at fever heat. At length order was restored. An Oneida county delegate announced a change of eleven delegates from Wadsworth to Cornell. Loud calls for another roll-call were made and the confusion was renewed. A delegate charged that the change of Oneida county to Cornell had been announced without authority. The roll-call of this county resulted 9 for Wadsworth, 2 for Cornell and 2 for Folger. Niagara announced the change of one vote from Wadsworth to Folger. Monroe announced a like change, and a delegate changed his vote in the confusion from Wadsworth to Cornell.

Delegates were now on the seats in different parts of the hall shouting at the Chairman, but no one was recognized. The confusion became so great that changes were shouted that could not be heard.

Order being somewhat restored, Gen. Sharpe, who nominated Folger, announced that Ulster County desired to cast 9 votes for Folger. Changes were showing unfavorable to Cornell, and a St. Lawrence delegate said it was evident Judge Folger had the nomination, and he moved the nomination be made by acclamation. Ruled out of order. Sharpe asked that the nomination about to be made be named decently and in order, and that delegates take their seats. Order was finally restored. The vote was announced as follows:

Folger	257
Cornell	222
Wadsworth	18
Necessary to a choice	249

The result was greeted with tumultuous cheers.

Warner Miller, U. S. Senator, said the friends of Gov. Cornell had labored incessantly to secure his nomination, and moved that the nomination of Judge Folger be made unanimous. This was done and three cheers given, and the Convention took a recess till to-morrow morning.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 20.—The National Distillers' and Spirit Dealers' Association of the United States is in session to day, under a call issued by President Henry M. Shufeldt, of Chicago. About fifty members are present, and the meeting is held with closed doors. The call refers to the disappointment concerning Congressional action for the relief of the whisky business, and says that, in addition thereto, "dangers are arising at the hands of a misguided and irrational class of fellow citizens, who, with fanatical zeal and persistency, are seeking the destruction of our business through restrictive and prohibitory State legislation." It suggests the reorganization of the association upon an enlarged and more practical plan. After a brief session the association adjourned till afternoon.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Assistant Secretary John C. New is already stated as Judge Folger's successor by knowing ones, and it is said that he has assurances from the president to this effect.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Sept. 20.—There was a sharp frost throughout the state last night. Corn is half in shock and most of the balance is beyond reach of harm.

THE first Sunday law on record was made by Constantine the Great in the first quarter of the fourth century, and ever since that time Sunday has been more or less fortified as a non-secular day in Christian countries by civil legislation.

IT has been discovered that the Democratic nominee for Governor of New Hampshire is not a resident of the State.

SPEAKER Keifer estimates that the Ohio delegation to the Forty-eighth Congress will number fifteen Republicans and six Democrats.

Stepped Off the Train.

The Peoria Journal of the 20th makes the following allusion to the tragic death of the old lady near Monticello, which was referred to in these columns yesterday:

Word was received in this city this morning of the death of an old lady, whose name is at present unknown, by walking off the Wabash train while in motion, near Monticello, a small town a few miles south of Forrest City. She appeared at the union depot in this city last night, shortly before the 9.50 train for the east departed, and purchased a ticket for Hot Springs, Ark. The conductor of that train assisted her to change cars at Forrest City. The depot men in this city think that she was demented, and that the accident was due to that cause. As soon as her absence was discovered the conductor backed his train and found her lying alongside the track. She was picked up and taken aboard, but died within half an hour. She did not speak after the accident, and her identity and place of residence is unknown.

The Wabash officials have ascertained that the old lady resided in the neighborhood of Ottawa, but her name has not yet been learned.

Fair and Festival.

A Grand Fair and Festival will be given for the benefit of the hospital at the Tabernacle, beginning on Thursday evening, Sept. 28th, and ending Saturday evening. Dinner and supper will be served every day, and the fair and festival in the evening. A number of elegant articles will be voted off, among them a lady's gold watch and gent's watch. Everybody is invited, and it is hoped when the committee waits upon the citizens they will contribute to make this a success.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

"The treasures of the deep are not so precious,
As are the concealed comforts of a man
Locked up in woman's love."

The joyous wedding bells rang out cheerily last evening, and scores of hearts felt and scores of tongues spoke only good wishes for the young couple whose lives and fortunes were joined together for life. The beautiful and accomplished bride has passed the greater portion of her life among us, and she is universally admired for her pleasant ways, her associates loving her for her goodness of heart and true friendship. Her marriage has been the principal topic of conversation in society circles in Decatur for some time, and last evening soon after 8 o'clock the marriage was solemnized at the Christian church in the presence of a large and fashionably attired company of relatives and invited friends. The bridal party entered the brilliantly lighted audience room to the charming music of Mendelshon's wedding march skillfully played by Prof. Goodman's orchestra. The bride and groom passed up the centre aisle preceded by Miss Lena Nelson and Master Earl Bartholomew, and at the altar the contracting parties were joined by the four bridesmaids, who were ushered up the north aisle, and by the four groomsmen who passed up the south aisle.

THE CEREMONY.

At the altar stood waiting the officiating clergyman, Elder Pinkerton, who, in an impressive manner, performed the beautiful ceremony which made Mr. HERBERT W. BARTHOLOMEW and Miss NOTIE M. LARGE husband and wife. A short prayer followed the ceremonial part of the interesting event, when the newly married couple left the altar "the observed of all observers," and preceded the attendants and relatives to the waiting carriages.

THE TOILETS.

The bride, who is a niece of Judge W. E. Nelson, and a handsome blonde, was beautifully attired in a cream surah satin dress, with full court train, real Spanish lace and passementerie trimmings, graceful tulle veil, and she wore Mousquetaire gloves and diamonds and natural flowers for ornaments.

The first bridesmaid was a cousin of the bride, Miss Maggie Goodbar, of Memphis, Tenn, who wore white Paris muslin, Oriental lace trimmings, Mousquetaire gloves and a half veil; ornaments, diamonds and pink crushed roses.

The second bridesmaid, Miss Hattie Hardy, was handsomely attired in white Paris muslin, trimmed with Maline lace, Marshal Niel roses, Mousquetaire gloves, half veil.

The third bridesmaid was Miss Rella Shockley, who looked charming in white Paris muslin, Maline lace trimmings, with Mousquetaire gloves, half veil and pond lilies for ornaments.

Miss Fannie Smith, the fourth bridesmaid, was becomingly attired in white Paris muslin, trimmed with Agincourt lace, ornamented with cardinal roses. She also wore Mousquetaire gloves and half veil.

The groomsmen were: First—Mr. Wm. S. Grubbs; second—Mr. Ed. Judson; third—Mr. Charles M. Hurst; fourth—Mr. John W. Clugston, each of whom appeared in full dress suits and wore black ties. The bridegroom looked his best in a handsome conventional suit and wore a white tie.

The master of ceremonies was Mr. Jos. B. Dinges, who was assisted at the church by Messrs. Charles W. Challis, P. H. Brueck, Mark Oliver and Jesse Leforgee, all of whom appeared in full dress suits.

THE DECORATIONS.

The floral decorations at the church were simple, and were made by loving hands in excellent taste. They consisted of a large floral arch, beneath which the couple stood and spoke their words of eternal constancy; and on either side appeared a great profusion of growing plants, blooming flowers, bouquets and fresh ferns. The effect was quite beautiful.

A BRILLIANT RECEPTION.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party were given a brilliant reception at the spacious new dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Nelson, on North Main st., which is also the home of Judge Nelson. The gaslit parlors were handsomely adorned, Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew standing beneath a large canopy of evergreens trimmed with white flowers, and receiving the warm congratulations of relatives and intimate friends. Suspended from the center of the canopy were the significant letters "B" and "L," made of white flowers. Later a sumptuous wedding repast was served in abundance. It was in keeping with the notable event, and was richly enjoyed.

THE TOUR.

Mr. Bartholomew and bride departed for Chicago on the 12:15 Wabash express, and will remain there for a few days. They will visit Mr. B.'s parents at the home place in Elmwood, near Peoria, where they will be joined by Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Bartholomew, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bartholomew, where will occur a family reunion and reception in honor of Herb. and Notie. After visiting the State Fair at Peoria, the couple will return to Decatur, where they will reside permanently, Mr. B. resuming his position as salesman at Linn & Scruggs' mammoth establishment.

A Dangerous Man.

At about 10 o'clock this forenoon a stranger in this community named Thomas Caldwell, hailing from Kansas City, made things rather lively at Fred. Mattes' brick yard, southwest of the city, by threatening to shoot a colored man named Ed. Thompson and Mr. Mattes, with whom he had some words. Caldwell was about half drunk. A state warrant was sworn out for his arrest, and this afternoon the bloodthirsty stranger was arrested by Marshal Hewes and lodged in the county jail. He had a loaded revolver on his person.

The Drama To-Night.

The celebrated young actress, Miss Margaret Mather, and her well-selected troupe, arrived in the city this noon from Peoria, and will appear at the opera house to-night, when the play of "Romeo and Juliet" will be presented with realistic effect. This will be a dramatic event which none of the lovers of the legitimate drama should miss. The character of the beautiful Juliet is one in which Miss Mather has made her enviable reputation, and she will give it with all its force and effect. Miss Mather's costly dresses are the envy of all the ladies, and they will be closely examined this evening by a fashionable audience. Go early if you have not secured reserved seats. General admission, 50 and 75 cents.

A Serious Charge.

Last evening Miss Mary J. Cayeus, a modest-appearing colored woman, aged 18, and the daughter of Mrs. Ellen Welford, arrived in Decatur from LaSalle, bound for her home at Springfield. She avers that she didn't know she would have to change cars here, and that she was informed of the fact by Theodore Jacobs, a colored hack driver, who entered the coach in which she was seated. She got out of the car and into the Jacobs' hack. She went to Springfield on the early train this morning and informed her mother that Jacobs had taken her to some quiet part of Decatur while she was here last night, and forcibly outraged her person. Immediately the mother and daughter laid the case before lawyer John H. Gunn at Springfield, and the three came to Decatur on the noon train today. Jacobs was at once arrested on a State warrant sworn out by Mrs. Welford, and Marshal Hewes took the prisoner in custody. Jacobs was taken before Justice Albert this afternoon for a hearing, Gunn appearing for the prosecution. Mr. Gunn states that Miss Cayens owns property in Springfield valued at $1500, and that she and her mother are reputable people.

An Open Switch.

Wrecks are getting to be monotonous on the Wabash road. Scarcely a day passes but there is a smash of some sort, that calls out the wreck train and crew. Yesterday afternoon an open switch at Sangamon Station, five miles east of Decatur, caused a freight engine and three cars to get off and blockade the track. Trains west-bound were delayed until 11 o'clock in consequence of the "accident," and Decatur people were denied the perusal of the Chicago papers of yesterday, besides having to wait until today to get mail matter.

New Tables. New Cues.

Mr. Thomas Andrews, proprietor of the St. Nicholas Billiard Hall, announces that he now has in position six of the finest Brunswick & Balke billiard and pool tables that can be obtained with money from any city. The tables are up, and each is 4½ by 9 feet in size, new and bright, and in perfect trim. The new cues, new balls, new racks, new hard maple floor, and the costly furnishing of the room, make the place the most elegant establishment of the kind in the land. There are two pool and four billiard tables, and all are now ready for use. Mr. A. invites the public to give him a call.

A Family Gathering.

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wells, a mile and a half north of Nuttle, was the scene of a pleasant social event on which about 28 Kentucky folks, visitors and neighbors of Mr. Wells participated. It was a dinner party, and among those who sat down to partake of the grand repast, served in great abundance, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot, J. I. Boone and two daughters, and Mrs. Noah Boone, of Bourbon county, Ky. Following the dinner came a splendid musical feast, given by Miss Lou Callender, of Louisville, Ky. The party was given on Sept. 19.

PERSONAL MENTION.

H. C. Milmine has returned from Chicago.

Miss D. M. De Pry, of Alton, is a guest of Jacob Bullard and family.

Prof. Wilhelmy will not be in trim to play the fiddle or handle a razor for several weeks.

Manager J. M. Hill, Miss Margaret Mather and maid, A. Salvini and Mr. Levick, of the Mather troupe, are registered at the St. Nicholas.

Mrs. D. L. Hall, Chas. B. Hall and Mrs. James T. Winslow, of Illini, departed last night for Lawrence, Kas. They will be absent several weeks visiting relatives in the west.

Monticello Herald: Col. C. G. Bradshaw, of Bloomington, stood trial in the circuit court, last Wednesday, for subornation of perjury. He invited the most thorough investigation. The jury returned a verdict of five minutes of "not guilty," and Bradshaw went on his way rejoicing. It was a substantial endorsement of his innocence of the charge.

Mlle. Litta, the prima donna, who has been at her home at Bloomington, Ill., for several weeks, has taken her departure for Chicago, where she will open her season. The newspapers at Bloomington have published the story that her matrimonial engagement with Harry Cleveland, the tenor singer, who was a member of the Litta concert company last season, has been broken off.

Mrs. John L. Routt, of Denver, Colo., accompanied by her infant daughter and two step-daughters, were guests of E. A. Jones and family for a few hours yesterday, as was also Mr. Thomas Pickrell, of Topeka, Kansas. The party left for Boston, Mass., last night, where Mrs. Routt will see that her step-daughters are properly placed in a female seminary near Boston.

The Starr-Payne Reception.

Last evening an enjoyable reception was held at the residence of Mrs. J. G. Starr, on West Main street, given in honor of her son Joe and his bride. Only the immediate relatives of the young couple were present. The hours were passed very pleasantly, and choice refreshments were served party fashion at a seasonable hour.

The Long Sale.

There was a very large crowd of farmers, city folks and stock men generally in attendance at the sale of stock and personal property owned by the late Nelson Long, who was accidentally killed by falling from a wagon drawn by a runaway team. The sale took place at the Long homestead, and aggregated about $5,000. Sixteen head of steers, past two years, weight 1200 each, sold at $66.20 each, cash. Sixteen head of steers, weight about 900 each, sold at $48.75 each, cash. Sixteen head of one-year old steers sold at $32.35 each, cash. One mare brought $200; a mare 14 years old brought $146; a lot of young horses from 1 to 3 years old sold for $140 to $175 each; one three-year old, blind in one eye, sold for $100. A lot of cows and heifers sold for $56 to $75 each, and a two-year old bull brought something over $80. Everything went high; even the pens of hogs and various other articles of value.

Graduating Exercises.

The graduates of Mrs. M. L. Cain's dramatic school, assisted by members of the senior and junior classes, will give an entertainment at the opera house Tuesday evening, September 26th, upon which occasion will be presented one of the finest programs ever presented to a Decatur audience. The ladies graduating are Mrs. M. J. Hughes, Mrs. M. J. Mosser, Miss Lena Henkle and Miss Lillian B. Irwin. They will be assisted by Misses Minnie Baldwin, Ada Bills, Grace and Lulu Fielder, Birdie, Ruth and Mary Jennison, only five years old.

Tickets 50 and 25 cents; reserved seats without extra charge. 21d6d

Of Interest to Sports.

A party from Bloomington has built a club house in the Vermillion swamps located on the new branch of the Illinois Central railroad. It is said there is the best of shooting at this point, brant and ducks by the thousand being seen roosting in the swamps, which is almost impassible, water being knee deep over the entire swamp, which is 30 miles long and three miles wide. The club, which is composed of some of our best hunters, will be ready for business by the time birds fly this fall. Bloomington Leader.

RELIGIOUS AND EDUCATIONAL.

—The average number of graduates this year from our Colleges is said to be the largest ever known

—A "People's Church," to cost $150,000, to be erected in Boston, will be the largest religious edifice in New England

—The bell at the First Congregational Church in Exeter, N H, gave out recently, after it had been rung morning, noon and night for eighty two years

—The Methodist Episcopal Church on an average organizes ten new Sunday-schools, dedicates fourteen new churches and adds two new parsonages, each week during the year

—Prof Samuel Ives Curtis, of the Chicago Baptist Theological Seminary has been elected to the chair of Hebrew in Andover Seminary to succeed Prof C M Mead, who retires

—At the commencement exercises at Harvard College the other day, President Eliot announced that the bequests for the year were nearly $100 000 Among those present was the oldest living graduate William Thomas, of Plymouth, Mass of the class of 1807

The late Joseph Armour, the pork-packer was not a Baptist, but he left the direction of his $100 000 institution for the training of Chicago boys and girls to Dr Lorimer. His brothers will increase the endowment and make it one of the leading charities of Chicago.—N Y Express

—The women of India are beginning to disregard caste restrictions and seek an education. At the matriculation examination of Calcutta University eight women passed, six of them being natives of India, and at Bombay seven women passed. At the first arts examination at Calcutta a woman obtained a scholarship of the first grade.

—The catalogue of the Indian University at Tahlequah Ind Ter, shows an attendance of sixty eight students, of whom four are preparing for the ministry. Of the whole number fifty-three are Cherokees, and five Delawares, while seven are whites. Thirty-six are young women, Norma Rasmus, taking the highest standing of the year, ninety six per cent, and twenty stand ninety or over. Yet the Indian cannot be civilized!"—N Y Examiner

The Rev Dr Joseph Alden who, at the age of seventy five, has retired from the Presidency of the New York State Normal School at Albany has had a long and honored career as an educator of youth. He was after being graduated at Union College for two years tutor in geometry and Latin at Princeton, seventeen years Professor of Rhetoric and Political Economy at Williams College, two years Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy at Lafayette College, six years President of Jefferson College Pennsylvania and fifteen years President of the Normal School at Albany.—N Y Herald

What a Pint of Manure Did.

A Wisconsin farmer sends this experience to the American Agriculturist: "Last year, in hauling yard manure across a field afterwards planted to corn, some of its attached off in driblets—from a handful to a pint or so in a place. When planting the corn I found portions of these droppings, and where noticed I drew them into the hill, and with the hoe mixed them a little with the soil as the seed was dropped. In three instances where a large handful or about a pint of the manure was thus put in, a stick was driven down to mark the hill. When hoeing, we noticed that in these hills the corn plant had started off more vigorously, were greener, and at the third hoeing they were six to twelve inches higher than the other hills adjoining. Our curiosity being awakened we followed up the observation, and when gathering the crop each of the three stalks in the three hills had two large plump ears, while the surrounding corn did not average one good ear to the stalk. This set us to thinking and figuring. If a pint of manure will give the young corn plants a vigorous start, just as good feed ... off a young calf or pig, ... and the roots penetrated ... every direction and gather more food and moisture. These stalks being better nourished from below, ran far away from the poorly fed neighbors. As to the figures, the rows were three and a half feet apart and the hills three feet distant in the rows, say 4 000 hills on an acre, and 4 000 pints of manure is about sixty two and a half bushels or two large wagon loads. Anybody can reckon the difference between six large well filled ears of corn on each hill and less than one per hill, and the cost of the manure is compared with the total value of the increased crop. The plowing and the seed and the hoeing amount to the same in each case. All I have to say is that every corn hill planted on my farm this year will have at least a pint of manure in it."

Jute.

The extraordinary consumption of East India jute, and its now conceded right to claim a permanent place among "the raw stuff" for carpet mills, calls periodical attention to the future of this homely weed. "But what," it may be inquired, "has jute to do with carpets?" With some carpets nearly as much as wool, and with others a great deal more. On an average, fourteen ounces of jute enters into the back of each yard of standard tapestry carpet, while each yard of American floor-oilcloth is but a roll of decorated jute. The bright and taking hemp carpets, so-called, are in reality not hemp but made of jute. Aside, also, from those fabrics, which boast little of their jute per centage, there are carpets which claim it as their sole constituent. The fiber being capable of a soft and singularly smooth "pile," and the goods which for some years have invaded the market under the name of "Jute Velvet," Brussels and "Tapestry"—their very thread being made of East India jute—are astonishingly like the wood-faced article. Jute is made into elegant curtains, hosiery, colored silks, and other fine textile fabrics. Jute bales our American cotton crop, and sacks our grain crop, and it is subtly entering nearly every fabric invented for the comfort of mankind.

Regarded fifty years ago as a fibrous weed of uncertain future, jute has since found a quotation in every civilized market, and adapted itself to infinite needs. No commodity save cotton promises just now to run the sheep so close a race; none does so much, so well, and for so little, as does this mysterious Indian plant. Its peculiarly wool-like affinity for dyes gives it fitness for the face of some fabrics, while a certain adhesive, clinging quality renders it invaluable for the back of others. These familiar facts are given new importance by the present efforts to cultivate India jute on American soil, and the yarns now shown of Louisiana and Carolina growth are claimed as equalling in softness and finish the best products of the Dundee and Scotland mills.—The Carpet Trade

The Three Napoleons.

Napoleon II. was the son of Napoleon I and Maria Louisa, and was born at Paris, March 20, 1811, and died at Schonbrunn, July 22, 1832. The young Napoleon's father bestowed on him the title of King of Rome, and on his abdication designated him as his successor to the throne as Napoleon II, and he was recognized as such by the Executive Committee appointed by the Chambers previous to the final accession of Louis XVIII in 1815. The young Prince went to Austria, where he was educated, and the right of succession to his mother's dominions in Parma being withdrawn from him in 1817, the Emperor of Austria conferred on him in July, 1818, the rank of an Austrian Prince, with the the title of Duke of Reichstadt, and provided him with eminent instructors. The efforts made after the revolution of 1830 in his favor were unsuccessful, but the young man became greatly interested in the military history of his father, and received from Marmont at course of instruction in the Napoleonic campaigns. He entered the army and went through several grades, and in 1831 commanded as Lieutenant Colonel one of the Hungarian infantry regiments of Vienna. He died of laryngeal phthisis in the same room in which his father dictated peace to Austria. On the establishment of the second empire in 1852, he became known as Napoleon II in the order of imperial succession. Napoleon III, popularly known as Louis Napoleon, was born at Paris, April 20, 1808, and died at Chiselhurst England, January 9 1873. His mother was Hortense de Beauharnais, who had lived apart from her husband, King Louis, of Holland, and his paternity was questioned, although it has been ascribed to the Dutch Admiral Verhuel. King Louis himself only reluctantly acknowledged the child as his son at the command of Napoleon I. Hortense was the daughter of Alexandre Beauharnais and Josephine, afterward wife of Napoleon; and, in accordance with the wish of Napoleon, she became the wife of his brother Louis.

ROSALIND, my dear, said her mother, who was sweeping out the front hallway, "does this button belong to your father's overcoat?" "Let me see it. Oh, dear, no, ma! It comes from George's overcoat. Isn't it splendid? I don't see anything so very splendid about it." "Oh why, ma! If you were only young and such a very nice young man like George should—should—" "Well, I shan't have any more such works in this house. I've no objection to a little moderate hugging in the house, but young men can't hug the overcoat buttons off in my hallway, ..." And Rosalind went to her ... to indulge in a weep

Do Not be Deceived

In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise, and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters we can vouch for as being a true and reliable remedy, and one that will do as recommended.
